

User Licence Agreement

The license that you have for this report is : Enterprise

Signify Research Ltd. ("Signify Research") reports, market data, briefings, presentations and all associated publications for the named report or service above are limited publications containing valuable marketing information provided to a select group of customers.

License Terms

Enterprise License Terms

If the above indicates you have an enterprise license, the use of this document is subject to the following terms and conditions:

- The entire contents of the named report or market intelligence service above are copyrighted by Signify Research.
- This document may be printed, stored (including storage on an enterprise intranet) or transmitted providing access to the content is limited only to employees within the named enterprise above.
- All employees of the named enterprise above must adhere to the terms and conditions of this agreement.
- The individual purchasing this enterprise license agreement shall make reasonable efforts to inform additional users of the restrictions on the use of all copyrighted contents included in the named report or service above.
- Under no circumstances can any content of this document be made available for general publication or disclosed to third parties outside of the named enterprise without the express prior approval of Signify Research Ltd.
- This license does not permit distribution to a third-party company or consultant acting on behalf of your company. If you would like to do this, please contact Signify Research for a license extension.